STILL YOU

People spend their twenties curating their taste and style, yet when they have a baby they are expected to give up their sense of self.

Skip Hop is here to say you don't need to sacrifice one for the other. Let's show parents that you can still be you, all while being a parent.

Skip Hop will partner with Vogue's In The Bag series to focus on parents who didn't sacrifice their identity when they had a baby. Iconic moms like Emily Ratajkowski and Julia Fox will show us what they keep in their diaper bag, from diapers and baby wipes to lighters and loose receipts.

Then, Skip Hop will launch a social campaign encouraging parents to show what's in their diaper bags with the hashtag #inmydiaperbag for the chance to win a limited edition Skip Hop bag.
